

'ANALYSE THIS!'

Have you ever been confounded by how you should collect, organise and analyse your qualitative or quantitative data?

The Palliative Care Research Network (PCRN) is hosting a pre-conference Workshop entitled 'Analyse This!' at the 4th Australian Palliative Care Research Colloquium. This session will provide insights from experienced researchers on the best strategies for collecting, organising and analysing both quantitative and qualitative datasets. Three early career researchers will also present their research queries to a panel of experts for advice. There will also be an opportunity for audience participation. Please join us in order to 'Analyse This!'
